

PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY
Cultural Justice Worker
LONDON, ON

Posting Date: August 16, 2019

Atlohsa Family Healing Services is seeking a dynamic and motivated individual to fill the role of Cultural Justice Worker. The primary role of the Cultural Justice Worker is to provide frontline support to community members accessing Atlohsa's Zhaawenjigewag Justice Program. The Zhaawenjigewag Justice Program offers an Indigenous-based alternative to Western systems when families are seeking to heal their relationships. The program offers individual sessions with Elders, Elder-facilitated family circles for out-of-court agreements, and wraparound legal support.

Role and Responsibility:

The Cultural Justice Worker reports to the Director of Programs and works closely with the Justice Program Team and Atlohsa's Elders' Circle to support the caseload of the Justice Program. The Cultural Justice Worker will provide restorative and empathetic support to individuals/families experiencing mental health challenges, addictions, and trauma. The Cultural Justice Worker will conduct intakes, assessments, peer counselling, and manage client support plans. The successful candidate will keep confidential records and enter client information in a secure database. Additional day to day tasks will include booking weekly Elder visits, providing wraparound justice system support for a wide variety of legal matters, and planning and hosting group programming throughout the year according to community needs.

Suitability:

- Social Service Worker, Justice Worker, or a related Diploma
- 2 years' experience in a frontline social service role
- Police Record Check
- Understanding of local First Nation/Urban Indigenous communities and Indigenous concepts of justice and holistic healing
- Team player with ability to problem solve independently
- Knowledge of court and board/tribunal matters and/or effective research skills
- Ability to organize and communicate complex information clearly, both verbally and in writing
- Proven ability to identify, analyze, and resolve conflicts quickly
- Proficient use of office based software including client databases and Microsoft Office Suite

Applicants of Indigenous ancestry preferred. This position will include travel therefore a full driver's license is required.

Employment Contract Term: 16 hours/week – ends March 31, 2020

Remuneration: $21.96/hour

Closing Date: August 30, 2019 at 12pm
